

Scottish band Vistas consists of vocalist Prentice Robertson, guitarist Dylan Rush and bassist Jamie Law - they've made their name gigging tirelessly across the UK, with word of mouth praise of their chaotic, life-affirming show travelling far and wide.

Backed up by a host of bright, anthemic singles including 'Retrospect', 'Calm' and 'Tigerblood' and racking up over 100 million plays for songs released in the last three years, they have been garnering support from the likes of Jack Saunders, Clara Amfo and Huw Stephens at Radio 1. After two critically acclaimed Top 40 albums, the band have certified their status as one of the most promising indie bands in the UK.

Their tour diary includes sold-out tours and support slots alongside the likes of The Wombats, Circa Waves and The Courteeners, with the band firmly making their home on the stage. Their last headline tour saw the band play their biggest headlines to date, selling out two Barrowland Ballrooms in Glasgow as well as sold out venues up and down the country.
