

Bio

Flo Naegeli is a singer, multi-instrumentalist, and songwriter from Dresden, Germany. With a distinctive blend of indie soul and pop, his music draws inspiration from artists like Jordan Rakei, Stevie Wonder, and Benny Sings. Flo's musical versatility shines through, whether it's delivering smooth vocals, laying down funky guitar riffs, or crafting infectious bass lines, synth pads, and drums. His ability to seamlessly write, arrange, and perform gives his sound both authenticity and wide appeal.

Currently signed to Amsterdam-based Label Vokall Records, Flo has quickly made waves in the music industry, amassing over 1 million unique listeners on Spotify and attracting more than 145,000 followers on Instagram. His talent and dedication have recently earned him a publishing deal with Warner Chappell, marking an exciting new chapter in his career.

With a fresh live show in the works and several highly anticipated tracks slated for release this year, Flo Naegeli is set to continue his rise as one of indie soul pop's most exciting new voices. Los geht's!
