

LUKAS OSCAR

LUKAS OSCAR is an up-and-coming singer/songwriter and music producer based in Vienna, with Filipino roots and a powerful, melancholic voice that captivates listeners from the first note. A natural musician, Lukas began playing the piano at age six, inspired by his mother's love for karaoke and Alicia Keys. By 14, he was experimenting with music production, and by 17, he was writing and producing for other artists, splitting his time between his hometown and Vienna.

In 2020, Lukas co-wrote "Tears Getting Sober," the Bulgarian entry for the Eurovision Song Contest, which earned praise before the competition was canceled due to the pandemic. Undeterred, Lukas continued to evolve as an artist, releasing his debut EP Colors of A VOID in 2022. The EP offered a raw, honest exploration of his emotional world, blending candid lyrics with soulful melodies. Now, with his debut album The Fun Never Ends! already out, LUKAS OSCAR is gaining widespread attention. The album, which tackles themes of self-criticism, obsession, existential questions, and the pressures of competition, has already made waves in the music world. Two of its singles, Bloodhound and Life Keeps Flashing have charted, further establishing Lukas's growing impact.

To celebrate the album's release, Lukas played his first headline show with his band, selling out the venue an unforgettable milestone in his career. Through it all, his music remains deeply introspective and uplifting, inviting listeners to join him on a journey of self-discovery and emotional honesty. With The Fun Never Ends, LUKAS OSCAR is carving out his place as one of the most exciting new voices in music.
