KYTES is an award-winning independent band from Munich.

The trio consisting of Michael Spieler, Kerim Öke and Timothy Lush has grown step by step over the years since its formation in 2015 to become one of the most exciting bands in Europe.

The three musicians, who have been friends since kindergarten, have found their own pace through their music and a unique blend of freedom and familiarity. KYTES have been releasing their songs via their own label, Frisbee Records, since 2018, and they have now been streamed over 150 million times.

KYTES define themselves through their self-created genre 'Indie Rave', which combines their old love 'Indie' and their new love 'Rave'.

This mix also makes the band's live show a very special experience – from catchy sing-along hooks to ravey electronic sets to intimate unplugged moments.

In their new single 'Cope', KYTES question how they deal with the daily flood of bad news, addressing self-doubt and doomscrolling spirals. The fast, hypnotic, almost reggaeton-like beat drives the song forward; guitars and synthesizers merge, and frontman Spieler surprises with unexpected, memorable and unique vocals.

The band's new album 'Indie Rave' will be released on 31 July 2026. The band will then embark on their biggest tour to date.

The 'Indie Rave Tour 2026 & 2027' will include more than 35 concerts across Europe. In December 2025, the band will play an exclusive concert to mark their 10th anniversary at Strom in Munich – the place where it all began for them 10 years ago.
